What I repeatedly think, feel and expect becomes my reality. So I choose my words with care, I speak to myself with certainty, and I let them sink deep.

I direct my mind on purpose. Each day I see the person I am becoming: confident, capable, decisive. I feel it fully, and I step into it now.

I am certain of my purpose, and I act on it today. Every day I take one deliberate step, and every step builds my trust in myself. I follow through. That is who I am.
